SIGNS OF HARD WINTER.

A man whose name we could not learn is in jail here on the charge of having stolen an overcoat from a traveling man at Hayti Tuesday of this week. The alleged theft happened while the tri-city special was waiting at Hayti and the traveling man had gotten off the train for a few minutes, and while he was gone the accused man is alleged to have stolen the coat and left the train. This train was on its way to Kennett and when it pulled out to the switch coming this way the man got on the train again, carrying the coat with him. Claude Holt, a brakeman on the train, spied the man and while he had his attention directed out of the window Mr. Holt got the coat and hid it. At Bragg City Constable T. V. Schoonover was called on the train and the man arrested. Mrs. John Roney of Blytheville, who was coming here on a visit, and another lady, whose name we do not know, identified the suspect as being the man who got the coat. The accused man vigorously denies his guilt, but this will be thrashed out at his preliminary.

NOT CONTEMPLATING MATRIMONY.

Democrat-Argus:
When Hon. Sterling H. McCarty, our Circuit Court Judge and known over a considerable section of the State as a more or less confirmed bachelor, had a sitting a few days ago for a dozen or so photographs, interested friends began to put two and two together and surmise that perhaps the Judge had in mind the commission of matrimony—or at any rate possibly the submission of his likeness to a matrimonial journal somewhere. However, we believe we are in a position to say that this opinion is not a correct view of the situation, the more so that we do not believe it at all needful that the Judge should have recourse to such an agency were he intent upon departure from his present state of single blessedness.

The facts are that Judge McCarty has in mind a long vacation from work and worry after his present term in office expires—January 1—and plans to gratify a long cherished ambition to make a visit to Europe especially to visit Palestine and the Holy Land. During his tenure of office this manifestly has been impossible, but now that he is to retire from a long and arduous grind of duty, he can avail himself of the opportunity, and it was with a view of making preparation to secure his passport out of the country that he had the photos made. It is a requirement of the officials to have a likeness of such applicant before granting authority to leave our shores, and inasmuch as Judge McCarty has not had a picture made since his term in the State legislature in 1911, he thought it best to have one a bit more up-to-date, as he has put on considerable enbonpoint and in other ways looks rather more middle-aged than at that time.

So the Judge probably will take his departure some time in the coming February, according to present plans, for a more or less extended and doubtless very enjoyable stroll through places of interest in Europe and the Near East. Although considerably in advance of the actual need for the photograph perhaps he considered it a good idea to have the likeness made at this time, when memories of the election and the great Democratic victory are fresh in mind and that pleased and satisfied expression sits enthroned upon his amiable countenance.

Jesse Gwin, bookkeeper for a lumber company at Deering, spent Thanksgiving at Hayti visiting home folks and other "folks."

NEGROES DESERT G. O. P.

Flock to Democratic Banks and Celebrate Al Smith's Victory.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Carrying improvised banners on which were conspicuously displayed pictures of Alfred E. Smith and Dr. Royal S. Copeland, 50 or more negro boys, ranging in age from 11 to 15, hilariously marched through a section of Harlem on the evening of November 7, blowing horns and beating tin cans and other nondescript substitutes for this race to celebrate a Democratic victory.

For the first time in the history of American politics negro voters in large numbers are manifesting an uncompromising attitude of independence toward the Republican party.

Election results in many pivotal States disclose that particularly in New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Ohio, Illinois and Indiana, the defection of negro vote had an important bearing on the fate of senatorial, congressional or gubernatorial candidates. In Missouri several thousand negroes abandoned the G. O. P., while in Virginia negroes put forward members of their race to insure the election of Democratic candidates for Congress.

Contrary to expectations to some, negro voters went to the ballot box in a resentful mood on Nov. 7. Charging the Republican party with base ingratitude and singing the song, "After All That I've Been to You," they cast their votes by the thousands for Democratic candidates.

During the previous administration negroes were appointed as minister to Hayti, recorder of the treasury, recorder of deeds, assistant United States attorney-general and minister to Liberia. Choice federal plum were also distributed to the race in various sections of the country. As a fitting reward for giving undivided support to Harding and his running mates in 1920 this group was high in its hopes to win back what had been lost under Democratic rule and secure more besides.

So far as representative federal appointments are concerned to date, requiring senatorial confirmation, the negro has fared but little better than when Democrats were in control at Washington. A negro Repub-

SENATORS WISH NEW CONGRESS SEATED IMMEDIATELY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—The present practice under which Senators and Representatives continue to sit in Congress for four months after they have been defeated for reelection would be abandoned under an amendment to the Constitution reported today by the Senate Agricultural Committee.

By unanimous vote the committee decided to bring into the Senate a resolution providing for such an amendment, which would require that a new Congress take office immediately after it had been elected instead of the March following.

ican has succeeded a negro Democrat as minister to Liberia, and a negro has been named recorder of deeds. Although President Harding at the beginning of his administration went on record as being opposed to the appointment of negroes to high office in the south, four days before election he named Walter C. Cohen controller of customs at New Orleans.

The above corresponds with the advice The Missouri Herald suggested for negroes during the recent campaign, and which to a considerable extent seems to have been heeded. More than 50 years ago the negroes were freed of chattel slavery, but have ever since been bound by political claims hand and foot, body and soul, to the Republican party. They have voted, not as individuals, for that party, but as herds of dumb animals driven to the slaughter. The negro is as much entitled to exercise his political freedom as the white man, and the sooner he learns to do so the quicker will come his rightful reward—good government.

A CORRECTION.

An error was made last week in a letter published by Mr. H. J. Reinhard, in which he wished to offer a $200 reward for information convicting parties of circulating a handbill concerning him. The article read "One Hundred" instead of Two Hundred. However, Mr. Reinhard authorizes this paper to raise the sum another hundred, making the reward $300 for the information he seeks. We regret the error occurred.
